Widows vs. Maidens.

That worthy and philosophical in lividual, the elder Mr. Weller, showed a profound knowledge of the subject when he so frequently and earnestly warned his hopeful son Samuel to "beware of the widders." The same caution seems to could buy a sack of flour for $1,90; but be no less necessary in Richmond, one of the papers of which states that young men are scarce in that city, and maidens and widows in search of husbands very plentiful; and the editor, pleading in Lehalf of the maidens, says :

We do not think, in view of the great worse. scarcity of men, that it is fair for widows to marry a second time, until all the young scaidens have secured husbands. The Legislature ought to attend to this matter, and protect the interests of the young ladies, for without the aid of legal enactments the widows are sure to play the grab game. They will, therefore, have while to be restrained by the strong arm of the cents. law, as was done in the early colonial his-tory of Virginia, when the House of Bur gosses passed an act of the very character indicated. It was found that all the young men imported into the colony, were at once eaught up by the widows, by superior wiles and stratagems, with mr are chance being allowed to the modest and retiring young maidens; so the Legtelature took the negter in hand, and will
